

GIRLS U-12 HSA Select 07

Head Coach Kevin Broveleit

Bio I love soccer and always have as a player, coach and fan. I've played as long as I can remember and started coaching middle school soccer when I was in high school (too long ago to admit to!). And growing up with five brothers and two sisters, the only way my parents survived was by getting us out of the house which typically meant a neighborhood game.

I studied sports medicine for three years and worked as a paramedic for seven. That also included being involved in a lot of professional and community education. I am a long way removed from medicine, but I have always been involved in educating in some fashion and coaching is absolutely an extension of that.

I am excited to have a daughter on the team and look forward to nurturing a strong and healthy community around Girls '07 Select.

Coaching Philosophy

From a philosophical point of view my approach is quite simple: you have to be having fun before you can be good. As I developed life skills both professionally and personally, I love the influence that team sports imprinted on me:

1. Team Work: Working hard and contributing to team goals;
2. Driving for Excellence: Enjoying competition as an opportunity to push yourself to new heights;
3. Life Balance: Embracing adversity and growing emotionally.

Current/past teams

HSA Select Girls 07 (U12)
WSSC Girls 07/U11 Thunderbolts

In this past year

As a team new to the Select ranks last year, we had a big learning curve. We stunned some dynasties by decisively taking points and lost a couple games we should have won. But we grew as players, as team and as coaches. This year our goals will be increase the cadence in practice, come ready to bring the game to our opponents on match days, and continue to nurture our community with fun and friendship.

Fun Fact

The pinnacle of my career was joining the Sounders five years ago for one of their adult "Dream" camps. Living life as a Sounder under coach Brian Schmetzer and playing at Century Link field was more fun than I ever dreamed possible!